

Crickalympics Terms Of Service

Crickalympics is owned by the owner of this website and as stated in the Copyright Document obtained from the Government of India in 2013.

This Copyright Document is confidential and shall be the proof of creation if there is any legal conflict regarding the ownership of the game/sport.

The Copyrights obtained by the owners for the game/sport are Universally accepted and are valid around all the parts of the world wherever the Intellectual Property Laws are in practice ever since India became a part of several relevant treaties and establishments.

Hence, any decision regarding granting of License and Publishing or Presenting Rights will be final as stated by the owners of the game/sport.

Any monetary benefits obtained in regards with the game/sport i.e. Crickalympics One On One Cricket or in the name of the owners without consent of the owners, shall be considered illegal and is liable for legal proceedings on the person or organisation in fault.

This website is for entertainment purposes and business related enquiries regarding the Crickalympics game/sport.

The contents utilised for the website have either been created by the owners or obtained from open source softwares available. We do not mean to offend any person or organisation by the content published on the website. However, if any of our publications are found to be offending to any entity, organisation or person, it shall be considered co-incidental.

Please try to send your queries, business related or informational, within the working hours of the Organisation i.e. Crickalympics, One On One Cricket.

Regards,
Team, Crickalympics